

Medicine Grand Rounds

Friday February 16, 2024 @ 12:00 – 1:00 pm

Dr. Saleem Razack

Saleem Razack joined faculty at UBC/BC Children's Hospital on January 1, 2023, after a 25-year career as a pediatric intensivist and medical educator/education researcher at McGill University. He is the senior faculty advisor to the Office of Respectful Environments, Diversity, and Inclusion in the Faculty of Medicine at UBC.

Anti-Racist and Anti-Oppressive Practice in Academic Medicine

Objectives:

By the end of the rounds, participants (both faculty and trainees) will be able to:

1. Identify the elements of anti-racist and anti-oppressive practices in academic medicine.
2. Consider the identified elements in the context of the tripartite missions of clinical care, education, and research.
3. Reflect on potential areas of change for greater incorporation of anti-racist and anti-oppressive practices in their own contexts.
