

Medicine Grand Rounds

Friday April 5 @ 12:00 – 1:00 pm

Andrew House, MD, FRCPC, MSc, FASN

Dr. Andrew House is a Professor in the Faculty of Medicine at the Schulich School of Medicine & Dentistry, Western University, and is currently the Chair of the Western University Division of Nephrology. He did his training in Physiology & Pharmacology at Western before his MD and specialist training at the University of Ottawa, and Masters in Epidemiology & Biostatistics at Western. As a trained clinical epidemiologist and nephrologist, Dr. House focuses on the design and analysis of clinical trials in AKI, CKD, hemodialysis and transplantation. More recently, he helped establish the Adult Tuberous Sclerosis Clinic at LHSC, which he directs, and has turned his research sites on understanding mechanisms and treatments for this complex syndrome.

Tuberous Sclerosis Complex:

“How did I become an “expert” in a rare disease?”

Objectives:

1. Review some of the basic genetics and clinical characteristics of this multi-system disease.
2. Review drug therapies.
3. Discuss illustrative cases.
