

Epidemiology and Biostatistics Crossword

Across

- _____ health is concerned with threats to health based on population health analysis
- Causes or factors that are associated with increased risk or probability of disease.
- How epidemiologists characterize health events in terms of time, place, and person.
- Any agent (animal, or microorganism) that carries and transmits an infectious pathogen into another living organism.
- The occurrence, rate, or frequency of a disease, crime, or something else undesirable.
- A _____ disease is able to be transmitted from one sufferer to another.
- _____ Epidemiology is the branch of epidemiology that studies the social distribution and social determinants of health," that is, "both specific features of, and pathways by which, societal conditions affect health.
- _____ Epidemiology is the study of the role of genetic factors in determining health and disease in families and in populations

Down

- _____ disease, an area of study in epidemiology other than infectious disease.
- A _____ randomised controlled trial is a type of randomised controlled trial in which groups of subjects (as opposed to individual subjects) are randomised.
- The occurrence of more cases of disease than expected in a given area or among a specific group of people over a particular period of time
- Scientific word for skin, not related to Epidemiology but often confused with it.
- _____ studies select subjects based on their exposure status.
- The percentage of a population that is affected with a particular disease at a given time.
- One of three types of averages used in statistics.
- Identifying association between an exposure or outcome is objective of ____ epidemiology.