Nellie Farthing Fellowship in the Medical Sciences

The Nellie Farthing Fellowship in the Medical Sciences was established in 1960 with money bequeathed by Nellie Farthing to Western University to create a Fellowship for full-time doctoral students in the Medical Sciences that recognized and rewarded excellence in research. Generally one Nellie Farthing Fellowship is awarded annually with a value of $3,000.

However, for the 2018-2019 year 3 awards at $3,000 will be given out.

Eligibility:
Awarded to a full-time Doctoral student registered in a Schulich School of Medicine & Dentistry graduate program. Doctoral candidates must have at least one year remaining for the completion of their degree to be eligible to apply. Although candidates are welcome to apply for the Drs. Madge and Charles Macklin Teaching & Research Fellowship or the Drs. Madge and Charles Macklin Publication Fellowship in addition to this fellowship, candidates can only receive one fellowship in any given year. Selection is based on excellence in research. Academic achievement will also be considered, but a candidate’s record of research is of primary importance.

Deadline:
Monday, May 7, 2018.

Application Procedure:
Graduate Chairs in each program may nominate one candidate. Nominated trainees may now apply online: Online Awards Application.

Send all transcripts to gradstudies@schulich.uwo.ca. All documents must be attached and saved using your last name and name of document ie: SMITH_TRANSCRIPT_FARTHING.

Referees may send in their letters to gradstudies@schulich.uwo.ca. Trainees must have 2 reference letters to complete their application.

Adjudication Procedure:
A committee will consist of up to three graduate program Chairs. The committee will be chaired by the Associate Dean, Research (Graduate and Postdoctoral Studies). This committee will select the recipient(s).
