H.L. Holmes Award for Post-Doctoral Studies 2017

Applications are now being accepted for post-doctoral studies to be conducted under outstanding researchers at world famous graduate schools or research institutes in chemistry, physics, biology or mathematics as they relate to medical and biological processes.

The Award covers a one or two-year period, depending on available funding and the research proposal. It can have a monetary value of up to $100,000 CDN per year.

Interested individuals may apply directly, or candidates can be nominated by recognized universities or research organizations that are willing to support the candidates in carrying their proposed research.

Don’t miss this unique opportunity!

Deadline: 31 March 2017
