Full details about the Common Course Policy are found on the BMSc website.

For these Double Majors, there are 2.0 "common courses": Biochemistry 2280A, one of Chemistry 2213A or Biology/Statistics 2244A/B (the one with the higher mark is the common half course), and Physiology 3120. The 1.0 common course that is double-counted/used towards both Major modules will be either Physiology 3120 or the combination of Biochemistry 2280A and the other common half course (whichever 1.0 has the higher mark). Regardless of which 1.0 course is double-counted, a 0.5 "substitute course" must be taken for each Major. A full course that shows up on both lists of substitute courses, e.g., Physiol 2130, may be mentally split into two and used as the two substitute courses required.
