BMSc Hons degree with Double Majors:
Major Physiology + Major IMS
For students entering Yr 3 in 2025/26 and onward

11.0 unique courses must be completed for the modular requirements for the Major in Physiology + Major in IMS

- check the boxes below, making selections from drop-down boxes (if present) and typing in courses if a drop-down box isn't present
- check Access to Courses for constraints on basic medical science courses (priorities, etc.) since having the prerequisite does not assure access to courses.
- Green courses are Admission Requirements and must be completed by the end of Year 2
- Blue courses are included in the Progression Requirements and must be completed by the end of Year 3
- Other courses can be completed in any year, provided the prerequisites are satisfied

NO course can be used in two places below, e.g., no course can be used as a substitute course and to satisfy another requirement below

0.5		Biochemistry 2280A
0.5		Chemistry 2213A
1.5		Biology 2290F/G, 2382A/B and 2581A/B

0.5		0.5 substitute course: any basic med sci crs for Major IMS (choose subject; fill in course #)
0.5		0.5 sub course: any basic med sci crs for Major IMS or Physiol (choose subject; fill in course #)
= 11.0 courses

Full details about the Common Course Policy are found on the BMSc website.

There are 2.5 "common courses": Biochemistry 2280A, Medical Sciences 4000E and the 1.0 lab chosen (Med Sci 3990E or Phys Pharm 3000E). The 1.0 common course with the higher mark, either Medical Sciences 4000E or the 1.0 lab, will be double-counted and used toward both Major modules.

Substitute courses: 1.5 basic medical science courses #ed 2000 and above are needed as substitute courses. 1.0 will be used toward one Major and 0.5 will be used toward the other Major. Indicate the courses used by adding the subject, e.g., Anat Cell Bio, and course #, e.g., 2200A. A full course, e.g., Pathology 3500, can be indicated above as two substitute half courses by filling in two 0.5 substitute courses with the same full-year course.
