ESSAY AWARD IN
INTELLECTUAL/DEVELOPMENTAL DISABILITIES

Deadline for Proposals

March 31

The Developmental Disabilities Program (DDP) is pleased to announce a call for submissions for the annual essay award.

Terms of Reference for the Award:

An annual essay award will be available to an undergraduate medical student or postgraduate medical resident at Western University, Schulich School of Medicine & Dentistry. The essay should describe an experience managing a patient at any stage in the lifespan with a developmental disability. This includes management of physical health, mental health or both, either in the hospital system or in the community, including family medicine.

The essay should be 1,500 to 2,000 words in length and typed double spaced with the total word count placed at the top right hand corner of the first page. Entries beyond 2,000 words will not be considered.

The amount of the award is $1,000. Please note that all essays submitted may be published in the Clinical Bulletin of the Developmental Disabilities Program.

Please submit essays via email attachment to Sarah O'Flanagan, DDP Coordinator at:
