Oral Cancer Screening for Today’s Population:
The Urgent NEED for Change

JO-ANNE JONES, RDH

PROGRAM OUTLINE
This limited enrollment interactive hands-on workshop is designed to equip today’s dental clinician with the skills to recognize and identify the earliest warning signs of HPV oropharyngeal cancer.
Breakout sessions will involve assessment of high risk anatomical areas related to HPV and non-HPV oral/oropharyngeal cancer, documentation and screening methods.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

- To understand the current statistics regarding HPV-related and non-HPV oral and oropharyngeal cancer, and discuss its transmission and transformation to malignancy
- Recognize the critical components of a comprehensive extraoral and intraoral examination and the life-saving subtle symptoms
- Identify the dental professional’s role in early discovery of mucosal tissue changes and potentially life-saving outcome through screening methods
- Be equipped with clinical and educational resources for your dental practice
