Javascript Modules

Western Communications has created some Javascript modules that will allow editors to embed popular JavaScript library elements without thorough knowledge of the scripting language. Many of the elements will add interactivity and additional functionality to the page and will help present content in an appealing format.

Information regarding the Javascript Modules available and the code required for those modules can be found in the Western Web Style Guide.