

Medical Students are expected to maintain a current CPR C and Standard First Aid certification throughout the duration of their medical school career. It would be reasonable to submit a CPR/First Aid certification at your clearance appointment that will last for the duration of your academic year (e.g. until June of the following year). Should you re-certify during the school year, please keep these documents handy to show to clinical sites and be prepared to re-submit to Verified for your next clearance appointment.
